Statewide Assessment to Expand Current Biomass Operations

2009

The Nevada Division of Forestry (NDF) is tasked with creating a state wide assessment to look at the potential for expanding the fuels for school program to public and private sectors. This assessment will address the following; current fuels reduction project areas, vegetation types in those project areas and the amount of fuel in the project area.

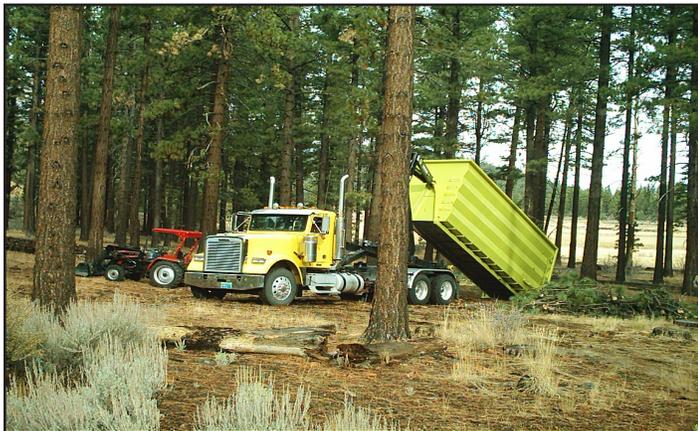

This assessment will address current biomass operations, methodology on our assessment and problems we have encountered with our current biomass operations.

Current Biomass Operations

Currently NDF is creating Biomass in the Carson Range for the Northern Nevada Correctional Center (NNCC) in Carson City.

The Western Nevada Biomass Transportation Project received funding in 2008 to purchase “roll off bins” a truck and other equipment to provide a portion of the transportation infrastructure to cost effectively deliver woody biomass to the Northern Nevada Correctional Center (NNCC) biomass fueled one megawatt combined heat and power plant.

The funds were used to purchase a 2005 Freightliner truck equipped with a “Stellar Hook” and four roll off bins. The equipment was placed in service

Biomass Chip Bin and Truck

in November of 2008 and almost immediately in the field. The first project, a Bureau of Land Management (BLM) fuels reduction project at Indian Creek Reservoir, demonstrated the incredible potential of a closed loop biomass delivery system. Utilizing the bins, NDF was able to divert 75 tons of woody biomass from burn piles in the field to the boiler at NNCC. The biomass was delivered at a cost of approximately $5 per ton, a significant savings over the $39 per ton NNCC was paying through contract suppliers. Our second project involved fuels reduction by products from Sugar Pine (California) State Park in the Lake Tahoe Basin. Approximately 32 tons of biomass was delivered to NNCC at a cost of $5 per ton, a savings of $24 a ton.

In 2004 The White Pine County School District was awarded a Fuels for Schools Grant for $340,000 to construct a fuel efficient biomass heating system (replacing an oil burning boiler) at David E. Norman Elementary School. The project also served as a demonstration of biomass technology and a focal point for further research and biomass education. In 2005 a 3 million BTU/Hour biomass fired steam heating system came online at David E. Norman Elementary school providing heat for approximately 40,000 square feet of classroom space and utilizing 150 tons of biomass annually. In 2006 an additional $13,000 was awarded to White Pine School District to facilitate the transfer of 1000 tons of biomass from a Bureau of Land Management (BLM) hazardous fuels reduction project on Mt. Wilson some 100 miles away. The biomass would have been economically unfeasible without the transportation offset from Fuels for Schools. A biomass supply was also established by intercepting wood waste at the Ely Landfill.

The development of the Round Hill Biomass Transfer Site was a significant accomplishment during the reporting quarter, and an example of the end product of biomass networking. NDF in partnership with Tahoe Douglas Sewer District (TDSD), TDFPD, Nevada Tahoe Conservation District (NTCD), NFSC, and LTBMU obtained a permit from the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency (TRPA) to establish and operate a biomass transfer facility in Round Hill, Nevada, that will provide approximately 1400 square feet of temporary storage for pre-chipped biomass from fuels reduction and defensible space activities in Douglas County and the Lake Tahoe Basin. The facility will operate between May 1st and November 30th and is anticipated to process 60 cubic yards of biomass per week from the Lake Tahoe Basin to the Northern Nevada Correctional Center power plant.

Assessment Methodology

The assessment was done using Geographic Information System (GIS) software. NDF currently uses ArcGIS 9.3 for their GIS needs.

NDF used the following data layers and information to develop the state wide fuels for school assessment:

Cultural-

This is a polygon layer developed by Nevada Department of Transportation to show the footprint of building. The purpose of this layer was to show locations of building, parks, school, athletic fields, cemeteries and other public facilities. All parks, recreation, athletic fields, golf courses and shooting ranges were deleted from the layer. The final results are actual public building locations. This is the layer that will be used to identify potential public facilities. As of this report, a request was submitted to Nevada Division of Environmental Protection to determine if it was possible to get a data set with all private and public boilers. NDF has not heard back from NDEP yet.

Project areas-

This layer was developed based on current ND projects in the Carson Range, Schell Creek Mountains, Virginia City Highlands, Mt. Charleston area and identified projects for Lincoln County through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA). The polygons are a general representation of the potential project areas.

Vegetation Layer-

This data set was created as part of a U.S. Geological Survey study, done in cooperation with the Nevada Division of Environmental Protection, to evaluate the susceptibility and vulnerability of ground water to anthropogenic contamination. This data set was created as part of an effort to provide statewide information on vegetation and land cover. The National Gap Analysis Program (GAP) is a national-level effort for identifying the degree to which native animal species and natural communities are represented in our present-day mix of conservation lands. GAP is coordinated by the Biological Resources Discipline of the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS). The program has a close working relationship with the Nature Conservancy. The purpose of the GAP is to provide broad geographic information on the status of ordinary species and their habitats in order to provide land managers and others with the information they need to make better-informed decisions. The GAP data for Nevada was reclassified and used as a vegetation map. The GAP data was created by the Utah Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Research Unit, at the Utah State University in October 1996. A final state report for Nevada of the GAP data has not been released yet. For a description of GAP analysis see Edwards and others (1995). The purpose was to aggregate vegetation types into a more general classification scheme as it would relate to hydrologic applications. The GAP data was compared to elevation zones, soil types, and precipitation to help group the original 65 classes. The original 65 classes of the GAP data was grouped into 26 vegetation cover types. These closely matched the Biological Resources Research Center (BRRC) aggregation suggested on their web site (Biological Resources Research Center, 2004). BRRC is part of the Department of Biology at the University of Nevada, Reno. The BRRC reclassification has 18 classes. The USGS classification renames BRRC's montane classes and identifies more forest and scrub types. The USGS classification also identifies more hydrologic type classes such as playa and greasewood. The USGS class code is somewhat similar to the Anderson Level II classification system (Anderson and others, 1976). Limited field verification was done on the resulting vegetation cover types.

Using the classification system for this data set, NDF used the following vegetation categories:

- Sagebrush
- Mountain Sagebrush
- Mountain Shrub
- Pinyon-Juniper/Mixed forest
- Sierra Mountain shrub
- Aspen
- Mesquite
- Ponderosa Pine/Mixed forest
- Fir/Mixed Forest
- Sierra Mixed Forest
- Subalpine Forest
- Alpine Forest

Using information from Aids to Determining Fuel Models fore Estimating Fire Behavior (Anderson, Hal E., National Wildfire Coordinating Group Publication-General Technical Report INT - 122, 1982) classification for 13 Fire Behavior Fuels Model (FBFM) , NDF classified the vegetation types into amount of fuels in tons/per acre. The classification is the following:

- 5 tons/acres- Sagebrush, Mountain Sagebrush
- 10 tons/acre- Mountain Shrub, Pinyon-Juniper/
Mixed forest
- 15 tons/acre- Sierra Mountain shrub, Aspen, and Mesquite
- 20 tons/acre- Ponderosa Pine/Mixed forest, Fir/

Mixed Forest, Sierra Mixed Forest, Subalpine Forest, Alpine Forest

The vegetation layer is a raster data set with a 30 meter cell size. The number of cells for each classification was added the cells together then multiplied by 900 (30x30) to get the number of square meters. Using a conversion program the square meters were converted into acres. The number of acres were then multiplied by the values from Aids to Determining Fuel Models fore Estimating Fire Behavior for fuel load for the different vegetation types (see maps in in appendix 1). In doing this classification, it enable NDF to quantify the amount of fuels (potential biomass) for each project area (see table).

| Tons of Fuel | Project Area |
|--------------|-------------------------|
| 2,998,135 | Carson Range |
| 35,795 | Virginia City Highlands |
| 1,365,540 | Mt. Charleston |
| 2,889,070 | Schell Creek |
| 119,005 | Lincoln County |
| 7,407,545 | Total |

NDF created a 50 mile buffer around the project areas in the GIS software to identify potential facilities that would also be economically feasible to transport the biomass from the project area to the facility. NDF took the modified cultural layer and using the 50 mile buffer as the boundary, extracted all facilities within the buffered area. The initial analysis resulted in over 2200 potential facilities (see appendix B).

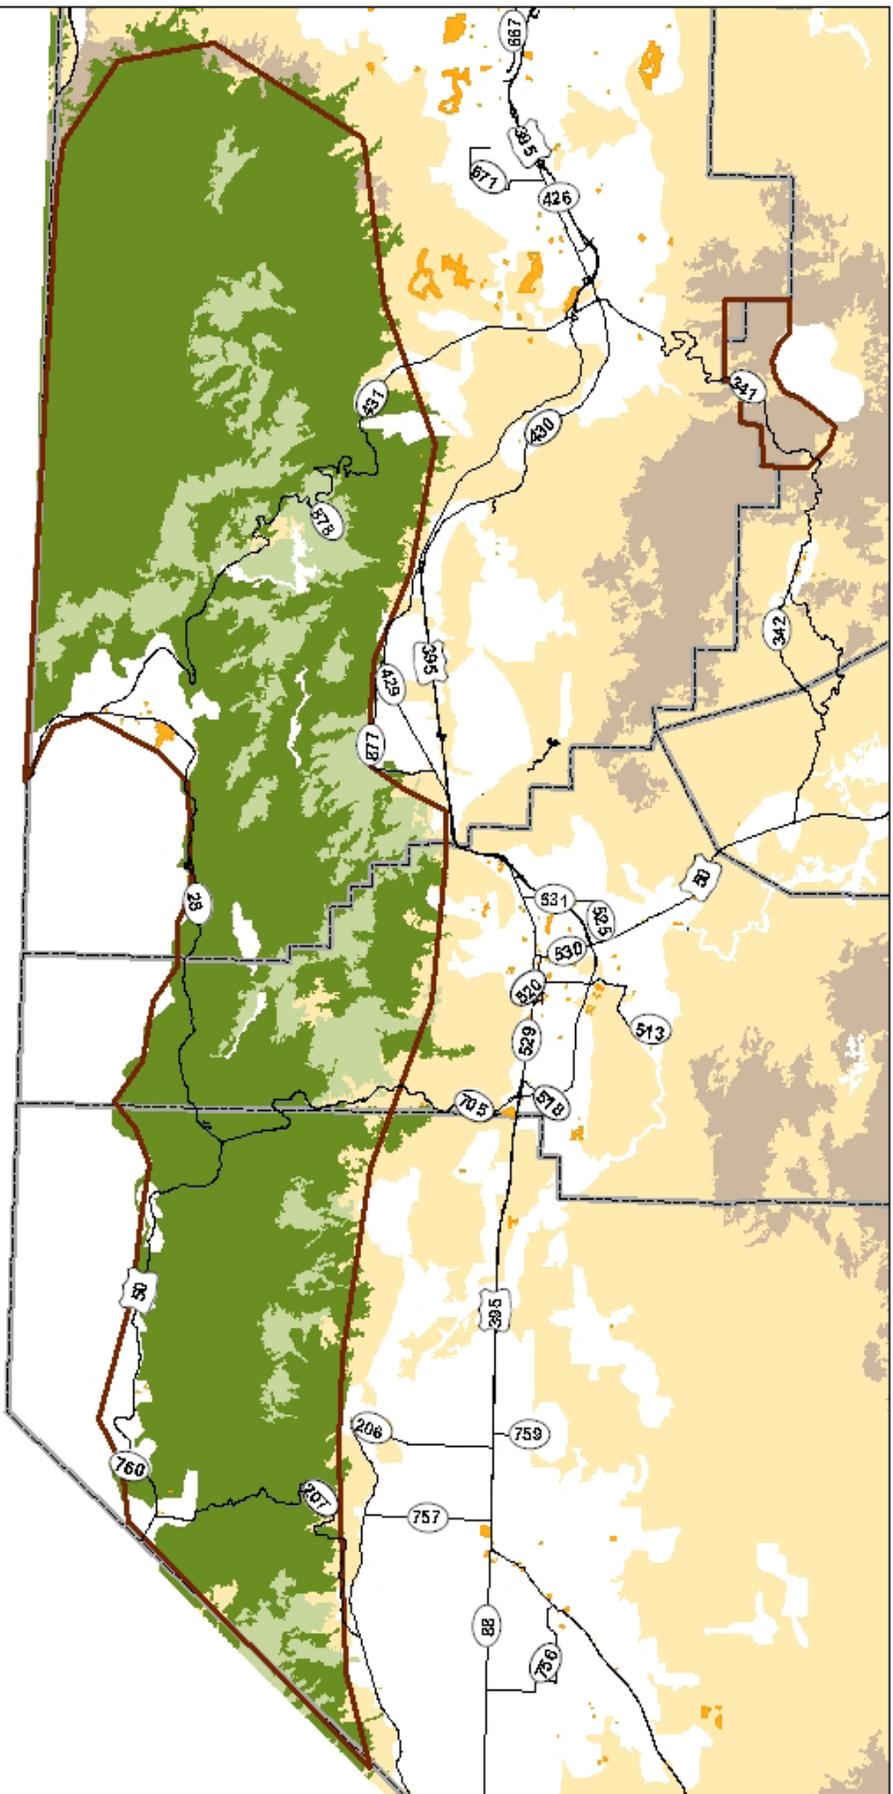

Current Biomass Challenges

The biggest challenges that continue for NDF and the collection of biomass are the transportation network. A project with gentle slopes or right of way fuel treatments for the Nevada Department of Transportation is some of the most economically feasible because of the access to the biomass. These types of projects are close to existing road networks and the ability to get the necessary equipment to collect the biomass

Some other issues related to getting biomass to needed facilities is access to forested lands. The issues are access to the forested lands and roads to get the heavy equipment to gather the biomass or to create a gathering site where the equipment can collect the biomass. An excellent example would be the project work in Little Valley. NDF Resource Management Officer and NDF Fire Protection Officer and the NDF Conservation Crews are doing fuels reduction and forest health projects on the UNR Whittel Forest. Access to this project is through USFS lands. The road through USFS is narrow with some tight curves and corners. The roads would need reinforcement to be able to bring the biomass out. The Whittel Forest also has some sensitive lands in which you wouldn't be able to create a staging area or bring in equipment to collect the biomass
